Pre-election roundup: city incumbents will run again

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

A number of seats for West Sacramento city office and local school board will be on the ballot on November 6. Voters will be asked whether to return Christopher Cabaldon for another two-year term as mayor, and whether to give city council members Bill Kristoff and Oscar Villegas new four-year terms.

Also up for their regularly-scheduled elections will be three of the five seats on the Washington Unified School District Board of Trustees. They're the seats now held by board president Teresa Blackmer and by Mary Leland and David Westin.

MAYOR CHRISTOPHER CABALDON

The three incumbents in the city race -- Mayor Cabaldon and councilmen Villegas and Kristoff -- each told the News-Ledger this week they will run again.

"The city is in solid shape," reported Cabaldon. "We have the economic challenges from the economy and from the state's challenges, but we're pushing through this without massive service cuts, swimming pool closures, fire station cuts, layoffs or certainly bankruptcy. We're seeing economic development activity start to pick up."

Developer activity and building permits are creeping up, he said. Foreclosures are sliding down.

"The trends which have been negative for the past three years are now in the other direction," said Cabaldon.

He said West Sacramento needs to continue to focus on flood protection -- "keeping the laser-focus of the city on what is a gigantic project for a city of our size." He also wants to push waterfront development, including a new hotel, partly for economic benefit and partly for the "quality of life" issues that he expects new restaurants and other amenities to bring to all West Sacramentans.

And Cabaldon believes the city government needs to keep pushing economic development, even though the state has taken away the tools that used to be available from the local redevelopment agency.

Cabaldon, 46, has three "day jobs" with educational policy connections. He's a program officer for the nonprofit California Education Policy Fund, executive director of the Linked Learning Alliance, and a director of the California Legislative Staff Education Institute.

OSCAR VILLEGAS
City Council Member

"I'm absolutely running again," Councilman Oscar Villegas also told the News-Ledger.

Villegas, 45, works for a state agency that oversees state and local corrections department issues.

What's he done on the council?

"I have been able to contribute to a balanced approach," said Villegas. "My approach comes from a lot of on-the-job training, but I was born and raised here."

He said he wants to keep focusing on "the whole idea of making our fiscal practices sustainable."

"And the flood issue, crime rate and public safety issues have become near and dear to me."

BILL KRISTOFF
City Council Member

Bill Kristoff is a retired postal employee, age 65.

"I took out my (reelection) papers and I'm in the process of gathering the signatures," said Kristoff.

"The city's in pretty good shape," he commentd. "We've been in better shape in the past, but we're doing the right things. There are a lot of projects being talked about -- although I only really get excited once I see sticks in the ground."

"Flood control is out top priority," Kristoff agreed. "Making sure our budget is secure and making sure we have adequate funds to supply services is another."

Closing date to file as a candidate for this election is August 10, although candidates start their paperwork well in advance. If any of the incumbents does not file by Aug. 10, the filing period for challengers will be extended to Aug. 15. Anyone interested in running for mayor or city council should contact the city clerk's office at 617-4500 or 1110 West Capitol Avenue.

The deadlines to become a candidate for school board are the same. For more information or to become a WUSD school board candidate, contact the Yolo County Elections Department, 625 Court Street Room B05 in Woodland, (530) 666-8133.

Port hopes feds will fund new barges, allowing it to start container-barging service

By Steve Marschke
News-Ledger Editor

The $5 million crane received by the Port of West Sacramento in January primarily to handle shipping container traffic hasn't actually lifted any shipping containers yet. But port manager Mike Luken said he is confident that his facility will still get a chance to start shipping things in big metal container boxes, and the crane will get a chance to help move them around.

The money for the crane was part of $8.7 million the port received in federal stimulus money through the "Transportation Investment Generating Economic Recovery" (TIGER) grand program, applied for in conjunction with the ports of Oakland and Stockton.

"The mobile harbor crane was about $5 million," said Luken. "A container facility building was about $2 million. We had a dock strengthening project for about one million. The remaining funding we contributed to two barges to start the project at Stockton."

The ports hope to begin a barge corridor program to handle cargo between Oakland and the Central Valley, to generate revenue for the ports and reduce truck traffic on regional freeways. To do that, "we're aiming to match the cost of moving cargo by truck," said Luken.

The Port of West Sacramento does not yet have any container-handling barges.

"We have been applying for a different TIGER grant to get two barges," Luken said.

In the meantime, the imported crane will get some use, he said.

"Yes, it was purchased with the intent to help this particular service, but it was also intended to be used for other cargoes. We haven't used the crane yet, we just got it, just got it assembled."

The port's financial picture is currently depressed, partly because of the reduced demand to ship cement -- a recently-added Port of West Sacramento mainstay. He estimated that the port is averaging about a half-million to a million dollars a year in losses, and is dipping into reserves through the economic downturn.

"We're still climbing out of the recession, still using reserves," said Luken. "We're starting a couple of new cargoes, including iron fines. We're hopefully starting that in two to four weeks."

Iron fines, a waste product from steel production, will be exported to be reprocessed into steel, said Luken.

Summer is here, and so are the mosquitos that bring along West Nile Virus

The folks who fight West Nile Virus every summer by attacking the mosquito population report that no aerial spraying is planned at this time in the Sacramento-Yolo area -- but low intensity ground spraying is underway from time to time.

The Sacramento-Yolo Mosquito & Vector Control District reports that in Sacramento County thus far this season, 161 dead birds and 124 mosquito samples have tested positive for the virus. In Yolo, eight dead birds and four mosquito samples have tested positive.

No "sentinel" chickens have turned up with the disease.

In addition to spraying to kill mosquitos, the "Fight the Bite" effort urges homeowners to take other anti-mosquito precautions -- like emptying any standing water around their yards where mosquitos might breed, and reporting any neglected or abandoned swimming pools in their neighborhood.

For more information on spraying plans and methods to ward off the virus, visit www.FightTheBite.net.

Firefighters respond to spilled chemical and threatening note with unknown substance

The West Sacramento Fire Department reports that a leaking tote at a business on the 2200-block of Stone Boulevard spilled about 150 gallons of 30 percent sodium hydroxide solution, which an employee then improperly washed down a storm drain.

The incident occurred on June 26.

The business's safety officer worked with responding firefighters and public works personnel, who "assisted with the storm drain direction and flow." The Department of Fish and Game was alerted.

A business on the 800-block of Embarcadero drive reported receiving an envelope with a threatening statement along with an unknown white powdery substance on July 2.

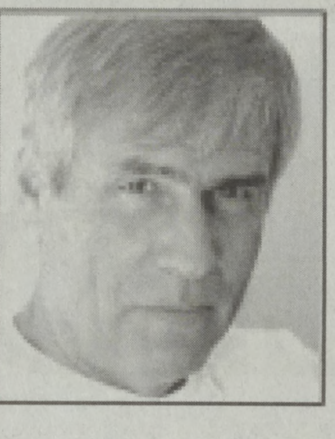
After employees received and opened the package, they "isolated" it in plastic bags and a pail.

Local firefighters joined representatives from the West Sacramento Police Department, FBI, Yolo County Environmental Health and a representative from the Sacramento Fire Department Haz Mat Team in responding.

Fourteen employees were potentially exposed to the powder, but no injuries were reported. The substance was tested in a Sacramento crime lab and determined to be "non-biological," reports the West Sacramento Fire Department.

Going to the movies is going to be different

My Back Pages



By Daryl Fisher

As everyone knows, early last Friday morning, a 24-year old gunman wearing a gas mask and full body armor strolled into a packed multiplex theater in Aurora, Colorado, and opened fire on those who had gathered there to watch the midnight premiere of The Dark Knight Rises, the latest Batman movie. He had an AR-15 assault rifle, Remington 12-gauge shotgun, and .40-caliber Glock handgun with him and before the massacre was over, 12 were dead and dozens more were wounded, many of them very seriously. The gunman was apparently an honors graduate in neuroscience from the University of California, Riverside, and a speeding ticket had been his only previous contact with Colorado law enforcement. He has now been identified as James Eagan Holmes, and I guess somewhere down the line he will get around to telling the world why he did such an incredibly evil thing.

Before that day's news cycle had concluded, gun worshipers and those who don't understand why we can't have sensible gun laws in this country were once again at each other's throat, effectively talking past each other, and doing nothing to address the reality that more than 10,000 Americans die each year from gun violence, not to mention that an even greater number annually use guns to commit suicide in their effort to put a permanent end to what is often a temporary problem.

Like Americans everywhere, I have received numerous phone calls and emails from family and friends wanting to talk about the terrible tragedy that happened in Colorado, but one of those emails was particularly moving, and with the permission of the writer, I want to share parts of it with you.

"I have so many wonderful memories from the times I have spent in movie theaters. I had a crush on Peter Pan when I was only about five and imagined myself flying off with him to Never Neverland. I can even remember wanting to somehow get rid of that annoying Wendy. And my parents took me and my best friend to the movies for my very first big birthday party when I was seven and let us sit all by ourselves way in the back where we giggled and whispered so much to each other that neither one of us could remember what the movie was about when we got home.

"My first hand-holding and my first kiss both happened at the movies, when the lights went low and the music began playing. Then as the years went by, there was crying my eyes out over Dr. Zhivago when Lara missed Yuri in the crowd; and marveling at the special effects of 2001 A Space Odyssey; and wishing I could take life less seriously like Diane Keaton did in Annie Hall.

"My first real crush was on a movie actor, Paul Newman, in Butch Cassidy and the Sundance Kid. Oh, how I wanted to be on that bike with him and look into those incredible blue eyes! And when my children came along, I can remember how my son could never get enough of Star Wars. We would wait in very long lines to get the best seats, and he so wanted to be Luke Skywalker! And the fact that I had a daughter of my own made me sob when Shirley McLain begged for more morphine for her dying daughter in Terms of Endearment.

"When my daughter was about four, I took her to see her first movie – Bambi. I had to hold her seat down the whole time because she was so slight that it kept flipping closed, with her little legs flying up into the air. I thought it would be such a nice "G" movie experience for her, but forgot about the very beginning, and as soon as I saw the hunter, I had a sudden flash that life's harsh realities were about to open my sweet daughter's eyes up to things I had tried so hard to protect her from.

"So our local theater has always been a wonderful place to laugh, cry, be amazed, be jolted, and to even fall in love. It's been a place to show my children how to leave their everyday lives behind for a few hours and transport themselves to worlds never imagined, and a place to just gather with neighbors and locals on weekend nights when there was nothing more interesting to do. Going to the movies has always been a much needed life-affirming experience for me, but now I guess all of that has changed.

"Never before when I went to the movies did I worry about my personal safety, or the safety of my children and friends. And never in my wildest dreams did I ever imagine that a night at the movies could end in the kind of senseless bloodshed that has just happened in Colorado. So now a movie theater will be just one more place in America where we have to be suspicious and ever-vigilant.

"The friends and families of the dead and wounded have their own unimaginable tragedies to somehow deal with, but for all of us who have always loved going to the movies, it will never be quite the same again."

> 'So our local theater has always been a wonderful place to laugh, cry, be amazed, be jolted, and to even fall in love,' she said. 'It's been a place to show my children how to leave their everyday lives behind for a few hours and transport themselves to worlds never imagined.'

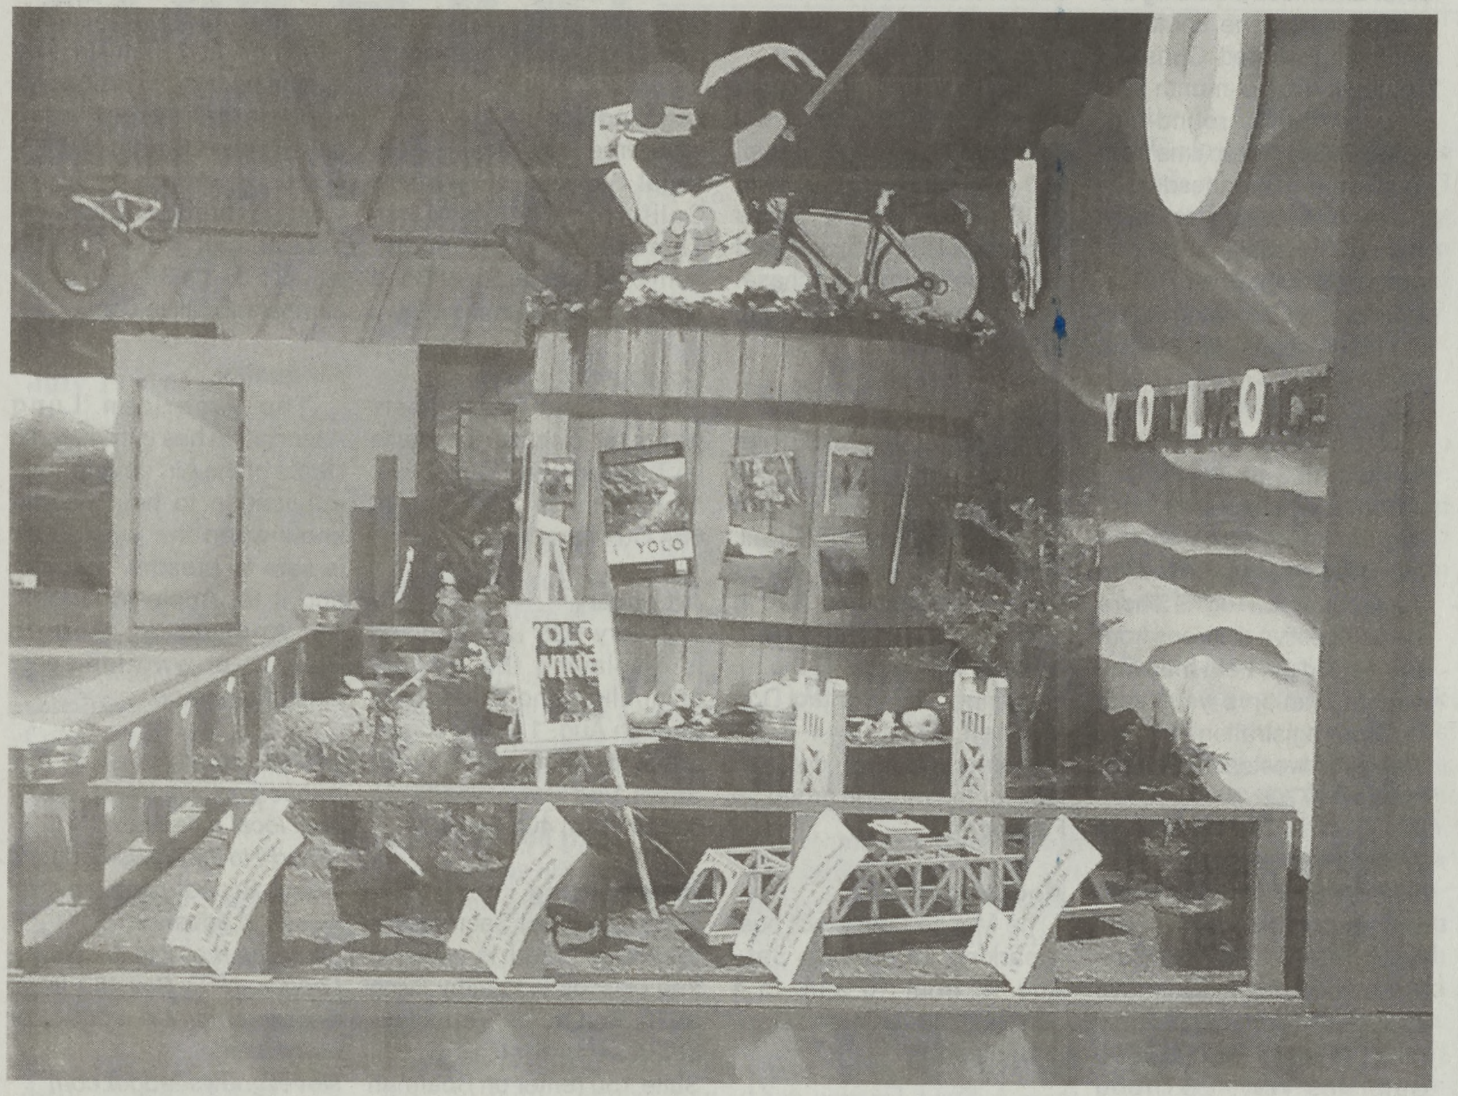
Bikes, baseball & wine: Yolo fair booth gets a silver



FROM THE COUNTY OF YOLO

This year, Yolo County took home a silver medal for its California State Fair booth in the counties' exhibit competition. Yolo's theme was "Yolo: You Only Live Once." there were 29 participating counties.

Yolo County's unique exhibit evidently impressed the judges with its "bucket list" of great things to see and do in Yolo County.

This year's display was made possible by donations from Cache Creek Casino Resort; Fred C. Heidrick Museum; Clarksburg Wine Company – Old Sugarmill; PreStar, Inc.; Yolo County Supervisor Duane Chamberlain; Yolo County Visitors Bureau; YoloArts; Yolo Solano Cooperative Extension.

The display offered the following Yolo County highlights: "Surprisingly diverse and engaging, Yolo County offers its own "bucket list" of great things to see and do. Savor the flavors of farmers markets, award-winning local wines and crazy-good cuisine from American to Thai. Thrill to the rush of skydiving or river rafting, pro baseball, festivals, parades and world-class performing arts. Hike or bike the verdant countryside, explore one-of-a-kind museums, dive in to charming small downtowns, and unwind at a soothing spa. Whatever the season, you'll find a reason—so come experience the fullness of life in Yolo County. After all, you only live once!"

NEWS-LEDGER EDITORIAL:

Board will probably appoint Vargas's successor

Most of the four-year term of one of West Sacramento's school board seats will apparently be filled by someone not chosen by the town's voters.

Board member Sandra Vargas began her current term less than two years ago and has, according to several insiders, informally told officials at Washington Unified School District that she has moved out of the district's boundaries (the city limits) or she will shortly do so. That will make her ineligible to continue serving as a trustee for WUSD.

The News-Ledger was not immediately able to reach Vargas to confirm this information.

Now, there's an election coming up in which three board seats will be on the ballot. But it's apparently too late to add Vargas's seat -- the remainder of her four-year term -- to the same November ballot. So as things stand, her vacancy will probably be filled by appointment. The remaining board members will choose someone to finish her term when she departs.

It's a matter of timing: Vargas's change in circumstances comes early enough that much of her board term will remain in front of her, but late enough that the voters won't get a chance to have a say in November about the person who should replace her.

love, compassion, aspiration and perseverance, "The God Box" shows the depth and broad reach of one woman's faith and her daughter's challenge in keeping the faith and learning to let go. Through all their trials and tribulations, both of these strong women had a partner in life -- each other.

"The God Box" is essentially a love letter from a daughter to her late mother. From beginning to end, this beautifully written book shows that a mother's love and maternal life lessons endure long after she takes her last breath.

COUCH THEATER DVD PREVIEWS

BY SAM STRUCKHOFF

PICKS OF THE WEEK

"Hatfields & McCoys" (TV-MA) -- The History Channel took some time off from airing unscripted shows about pawn shops and roughnecks who work in remote locations to air something related to history -- and it worked out pretty well! This six-hour miniseries takes a bloody page out of American history and produces a decent scripted drama with real actors.

Devil Hatfield (Kevin Costner) and Randall McCoy (Bill Paxton) served together in the Confederate Army. When the war ends, a feud starts up as McCoy suspected Hatfield of leaving duty too early. Things spiral downward from there, as blood begets blood and the cycle of vengeance reaches down through the generations. It may not be the most historically accurate -- the details of the feud are murky to begin with -- but it makes for good drama.

"The Magic School Bus: The Complete Series" -- If you have rugrats, whippersnappers, young'ns or kids who need to learn a thing or two, you could do a lot worse than a ride on the Magic School Bus. Ms. Frizzle encourages her fourth grade class to "get messy" and "make mistakes" while she takes them on journeys through the solar system, the ancient world, the human digestive tract and everywhere between. This animated series from Scholastic can help pass a few rainy days with education and entertainment.

DOG OF THE WEEK

"LOL" (PG-13) -- This Miley Cyrus vehicle was all but pushed under the rug, but contractual obligations forced it into the light of day. Let's just say it got a limited release on the same day "The Avengers" hit theaters. Cyrus plays Lola -- or "Lol" to her text-messaging, social media-addicted peers -- a high-school girl trapped in a relentlessly unoriginal teen drama. Her boyfriend breaks her heart by hooking up with another girl, and then she gets confusing feelings about her best friend (he's cute and in a band!)

The movie tugs at tenderness with Lola's strained relationship with her mom (Demi Moore.) However, if you want to find a touching drama about the life of the modern American teen, look elsewhere. This one is pretty much a catalog of the most banal and annoying aspects of teenhood.

"Detention" (R) -- On the topic of annoying teenagers, somebody sure tried to make a witty, off-the-wall, fast-paced send-up of high-school dramas, and wound up with this scatterbrained mess. It gets points for originality and visual panache, but only partial credit because it's just not there yet. A masked slasher starts killing kids in a colorful high school full of fast-talking suburbanites, and things only get more self-referential and difficult to follow (much less laugh at) from there.

"The God Box"
by Mary Lou Quinlan
(Greenleaf Book Group Press, $16.95)
Reviewed by Rose M. Croke

What if you could catch a glimpse of every hope -- no matter how big or small --your mother ever had for you and your loved ones?

When her beloved mother dies, author Mary Lou Quinlan caught that miraculous glimpse when she found her mother's "God Box," a private stash of notes and prayers scribbled thoughtfully on scraps of paper written on behalf of family, friends and strangers. Quinlan found not one, but 10 boxes, filled with hundreds of tiny prayers and wishes that spanned the last 20 years of her mother's life.

A devout Catholic, Quinlan's mother, Mary Finlayson, was unabashedly committed to God. Faith was her compass, and she entrusted her most intimate worries and wishes to the sanctity of her God Box. When friends and relatives called her with their problems, she would tell them, "You're in my God Box." Her unwavering faith and support came with no strings attached.

These humble containers were a source of great solace and comfort to her grieving middle-aged daughter. So much so, they inspired her to learn to ask for help from a higher power as her mother had taught her through example and deed.

With its beautiful essays and anecdotes on faith,

Grill a Summer Pizza

If you love fresh vegetables and adore pizza, why not combine them on the grill? The best part is that you can change this recipe and use whatever vegetables you have on hand. This pizza is so good you might want to devour the whole thing!

Although traditional Neapolitan pizza dough is made only with flour, yeast, salt and oil, the recipe below has an American twist. This unique recipe uses bread flour for strength, all-purpose flour for tenderness and cornmeal for flavor and texture. It makes a delicious, slightly crunchy dough for any pizza recipe, but especially for vegetable toppings. If you don't want to make your own pizza dough, you can purchase commercially made dough, dust your board with some cornmeal and then roll out the dough so that the bottom will be coated with cornmeal to give it a similar crisp texture. You can use any combination of the vegetables below on your pizza.

SUMMER VEGETABLE PIZZA

2 tablespoons olive oil
2 tablespoons balsamic vinegar
1 teaspoon sea salt
1 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper
1 teaspoon red pepper flakes
1 medium zucchini, cut lengthwise into 1/4-inch-thick slices
1 medium yellow squash, cut lengthwise into 1/4-inch-thick slices
1 large bell pepper, stem and seeds removed and cut in half
1 large purple Globe eggplant, stem removed and cut into rounds
1 large Portabello mushroom or 4 small mushrooms, wiped free of debris, stem trimmed or removed
3 plum tomatoes, cut in half
6 green onions, root ends removed
4 pieces of asparagus, stems trimmed
Cooking oil spray
1 (12-inch) pizza crust or packaged pizza crust (see recipe and tips below)
1/4 cup (1 ounce) finely grated pecorino Romano cheese
2 tablespoons thinly sliced fresh basil
1/2 teaspoon finely chopped fresh oregano

1. Prepare a medium-hot fire using charcoal or gas grill. Meanwhile, using a large bowl, soak the vegetables in cold water for about 30 minutes before you grill them to keep them from drying out. Drain and pat vegetables dry.

2. Combine oil, vinegar, salt, pepper, pepper flakes, zucchini, yellow squash, bell pepper, eggplant, mushrooms, tomatoes, green onions and asparagus in the bowl, tossing gently to coat. Place vegetable mixture on grill rack coated with cooking spray. Grill 2 minutes on each side or until tender.

3. Lightly coat pizza crust with cooking spray; grill 1 minute on each side or until lightly toasted. Arrange vegetable mixture over crust. Sprinkle with pecorino Romano cheese. Grill 5 minutes or until thoroughly heated. Remove from grill; sprinkle with basil and oregano.

CORNMEAL PIZZA DOUGH

Pizza dough doesn't freeze very well, although it can be made one day ahead, allowed to partially rise, then refrigerated overnight for use the following day, or even punched down again and kept chilled for use the second day. Allow the dough to come to room temperature before rolling or stretching into a circle or tongue shape.

* 1/2 pound (2 cups minus 2 tablespoons) unbleached all-purpose flour
* 1/2 pound (2 cups) unbleached bread flour
* 1/4 pound (3/4 cup plus 2 tablespoons) stone-ground yellow cornmeal
* 2 teaspoons fine sea salt
* 1/2 cup lukewarm water
* 1 tablespoon honey
* 1 (1/4-ounce) package (21/2 teaspoons) active dry yeast
* 3/4 cup lukewarm milk
* 1/4 cup extra-virgin olive oil

If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. UNLESS YOU TAKE ACTION TO PROTECT YOUR PROPERTY, IT MAY BE SOLD AT A PUBLIC SALE. IF YOU NEED AN EXPLANATION OF THE NATURE OF THE PROCEEDING AGAINST YOU, YOU SHOULD CONTACT A LAWYER. Notice is hereby given that RECONTRUST COMPANY, N.A., as duly appointed trustee pursuant to the Deed of Trust executed by MARIA GISELA GODINEZ ZEPEDA, AN UNMARRIED WOMAN, dated 02/28/2006 and recorded 3/7/2006, as Instrument No. 2006-0008956-00, in Book , Page , of Official Records in the office of the County Recorder of Yolo County, State of California, will sell on 08/10/2012 at 12:00PM, At the rear (North) entrance to the City Hall Building, 1110 West Capitol Avenue, West Sacramento, CA 95691 at public auction, to the highest bidder for cash or check as described below, payable in full at time of sale, all right, title, and interest conveyed to and now held by it under said Deed of Trust, in the property situated in said County and State and as more fully described in the above referenced Deed of Trust. The street address and other common designation, if any, of the real property described above is purported to be: 416 WESTACRE ROAD, WEST SACRAMENTO, CA, 95691. The undersigned Trustee disclaims any liability for any incorrectness of the street address and other common designation, if any, shown herein. The total amount of the unpaid balance with interest thereon of the obligation secured by the property to be sold plus reasonable estimated costs, expenses and advances at the time of the initial publication of the Notice of Sale is $380,121.50. It is possible that at the time of sale the opening bid may be less than the total indebtedness due. In addition to cash, the Trustee will accept cashier's checks drawn on a state or national bank, a check drawn by a state or federal credit union, or a check drawn by a state or federal savings and loan association, savings association, or savings bank specified in Section 5102 of the Financial Code and authorized to do business in this state. Said sale will be made, in an "AS IS" condition, but without covenant or warranty, express or implied, regarding title, possession or encumbrances, to satisfy the indebtedness secured by said Deed of Trust, advances thereunder, with interest as provided, and the unpaid principal of the Note secured by said Deed of Trust with interest thereon as provided in said Note, plus fees, charges and expenses of the Trustee and of the trusts created by said Deed of Trust. If required by the provisions of section 2923.5 of the California Civil Code, the declaration from the mortgagee, beneficiary or authorized agent is attached to the Notice of Trustee's Sale duly recorded with the appropriate County Recorder's Office. NOTICE TO POTENTIAL BIDDERS If you are considering bidding on this property lien, you should understand that there are risks involved in bidding at a trustee auction. You will be bidding on a lien, not on a property itself. Placing the highest bid at a trustee auction does not automatically entitle you to free and clear ownership of the property. You should also be aware that the lien being auctioned off may be a junior lien. If you are the highest bidder at the auction, you are or may be responsible for paying off all liens senior to the lien being auctioned off, before you can receive clear title to the property. You are encouraged to investigate the existence, priority, and size of outstanding liens that may exist on this property by contacting the county recorder's office or a title insurance company, either of which may charge you a fee for this information. If you consult either of these resources, you should be aware that the lender may hold more than one mortgage or deed of trust on the property. NOTICE TO PROPERTY OWNER The sale date shown on this notice of sale may be postponed one or more times by the mortgagee, beneficiary, trustee, or a court, pursuant to Section 2924g of the California Civil Code. The law requires that information about trustee sale postponements be made available to you and to the public, as a courtesy to those not present at the sale. If you wish to learn whether your sale date has been postponed, and, if applicable, the rescheduled time and date for the sale of this property, you may call 1-800-281-8219 or visit this Internet Web site www.recontrustco.com, using the file number assigned to this case TS No. 12-0026918. Information about postponements that are very short in duration or that occur close in time to the scheduled sale may not immediately be reflected in the telephone information or on the Internet Web site. The best way to verify postponement information is to attend the scheduled sale.
